FOREWORD

HEREIN is contained a a chronicle of a school year and the development of our City contrasted with the past hundred years, commemorated by the Centennial Celebration and Homecoming in the summer of 1928. In our future years of progress toward greater achievements may this volume be held as a priceless relic to refresh our memories of the years long since faded into the past.

DEDICATION

IN recognition for the service rendered to the Class of '29 in directing the annual Class Play and as advisor during its last two years in Huntington High School, this chronicle is respectively dedicated to,

Miss Frances Taylor

Huntington---Past and Present

HUNTINGTON! What wonderful changes have been brought about during its century of existence!

As we pass through the pages of its history, we marvel at the rise of a small, insignificant village, to a now prosperous industrious, well-known city. We see the passing of the redman, the conquest of the pale-face, and all those elements that cause its history to be the pageant it is.

Huntington, the county seat of Huntington County and the only incorporated city in the county, is situated on the Little River near the center of Huntington Township.

Long before the white man first visited this country, the site of the city was known to the Indians as We-pe-che-an-gan-ge, which means "Flint Place" or "place of the flint." Here the Redmen were wont to gather and drink from the clear, flowing springs which the early traders called, "Flint Springs".

Tradition tells us that General Harrison and his army camped on the ridge where the city now stands, while on his way from Fort Recovery, Ohio, to the Tippecanoe River in 1811. It is almost positive that the army passed through this country, but the exact spot where they camped cannot be authentically sited.

The early inhabitants of this wild, unknown country were the Indians who were chiefly of the Miamis. They were a freedom loving tribe who roved through the forests hunting, or wandered along the rivers and fished. They were clean, well developed men and women who were considered intellectually superior to any of the neighboring tribes.

Probably their first well known chief was Little Turtle who lived at the present site of Fort Wayne. His chieftainship was one of deep and careful planned deeds and at his death in July, 1812, he was succeeded by Jean Baptiste Richardville, commonly called John B. Richardville, a half-breed of French and Indian blood.

Catherine, one of his three daughters became the wife of Frances La Fontaine, who at the death of Richardville in 1841, became the last principal chief of the Miami Nation.

Here indeed, is a man whose character we can pause over and discuss for a few minutes. He is described as a "tall portly man weighing about 350 pounds." He was athletic, being one of the best runners of his time. His elevation to the chieftainship came after the treaties of 1826 and 1838, which took the land from his people and humbled their pride, hence he was not given a fair chance to show his ability as a leader; however, he did all within his power to alleviate the trials and sufferings of his people who loved him so dearly.

When the Miamis were removed to Kansas in the fall of 1845, Chief LaFontaine accompanied them, spent the first winter with them on their new reservation, and in the spring of 1847, set out for his home which he had established at the forks of the Wabash River in Huntington County, and which stands as a monument to him to this day, but was overcome by illness and died at Lafayette on April 13, 1847. His body now lies in the Catholic Cemetery in Huntington.

Thus the Redman passed from this land never to return and the "pale-face" took possession.

The first white settler who we have authentic records of came and settled here in 1828 in the country now included in Dallas Township. The only white man who had been in this country before was the trader who floated down the rivers and traded his wares for the furs the Indians supplied.

But with such a humble beginning, still within a century, our city has made some wonderful strides in progress.

Probably the first "boom" to the town was the construction of the Wabash and Erie Canal. The work was commenced in 1832, and on July 3, 1835, the first boat arrived in Huntington amidst much celebration.

The canal was not completed until 1851, when it terminated at Evansville and formed the longest canal in the world. After many years of faithful service, it was discontinued because of steam competition and its bed abandoned, but today, a section of the locks can be seen at Lagro, Indiana.

From this time on, the little town grew very rapidly in great strides. The old Indian trails were soon replaced by well constructed roads and the steam transportation took the place of the canal. The first train arrived in this city on New Year's day, 1856, on the Wabash line. The station built was used until 1928 when a new modern edifice took its place, marking another step in progress. The Erie line was established through here about 1880.

In 1858, the corner stone for our first court house was laid, amid much pomp and splendor. The building, though quaint in design, served it purpose well and was replaced by the present magnificent building in 1904. Our present City Building and fire station was constructed in 1904 and did away with the old frame and brick structures.

Today, we enjoy all the luxuries that are common to the metropolitan cities of our nation. We have a wonderful system of schools for the up-building of the mind and a fine order of churches for the strengthening of the soul.

Our parks are of the highest degree and are known over the entire state and nation. The sunken gardens are a beauty spot visited by thousands of tourists every summer and are constantly under going rapid transfiguration. They are loaded with flowers, shrubs, and trees and are artistically fixed with rustic stone bridges and picturesque walks. Memorial park, which adjourns the gardens, is also known throughout the nation as one of the finest of small city parks. Its sweeping terraces, majestic oaks, and beautiful ravines along with the tennis courts and children's play equipment makes it the center of recreation for the city.

Our public and parochial buildings are also of the finest in beauty of architecture and skill in construction. Our new Hotel La Fontaine, Elks Club, Masonic Temple, Victory Noll, Capuchin Monastery, and Wabash station rank highest as wonderful structures.

Our school system is one of the best in the state. From the tiny log school to the present day edifice, we have shown wonderful progress. Our new Central ward building and Community Gymnasium are the latest and most modernly equipped structures to be added to our lists of schools not to forget the High School, Lincoln, Riley, Horace Mann, John Tipton, and State Street buildings.

Thus in a brief way we have seen the wonderful strides that have been taken by Huntington in all phases of development during the past century and made famous by the historical pageant and homecoming held during the week of August 5 to 12, 1928, and wonderingly, hope that our next hundred years of existence may be more progressive, and even more extensive than has been our past century of existence here on this soil immortalized by our pioneer forefathers.

Class of '29

PRESIDENT ..... WILLIAM CALVERT
VICE-PRESIDENT ..... ROGER WARE
SECRETARY ..... MYRTLE LOUISE EARHART
TREASURER ..... FREDERIC GRAYSTON
ADVISOR ..... MISS FRANCES TAYLOR

THROUGHOUT its four years in the halls of Huntington High School, the Senior Class of 1929 has not failed in any of its undertakings. From the time it entered the school as Freshmen, until it received its diplomas, it has reached the highest goal in any enterprise.

Its most outstanding feat during its Junior year, was the beautiful reception given for the class of '28 at the Masonic Temple. The enthusiasm exhibited by the class, did not diminish even during its last few weeks in school and all undertakings were put across in fine fashion.

The class was organized during the second week of school with the following officers being chosen: William Calvert, President; Roger Ware, Vice-President; Myrtle Louise Earhart, Secretary; Frederic Grayston, Treasurer; and Miss Frances Taylor was chosen advisor for the second time as a merit for her splendid work as Junior Sponsor.

A short time later a list of class committees were announced by the President, as follows: Finance Committee: Benjamin Ahlschwede, Chairman; Letha Rickert, Russel Ade, and Frederic Grayston. Invitation Committee: Geraldine Royer. Chairman; Hilda Beaver, Frances Beeson, and Robert Bauman. Publicity Committee: Mr. Michael, Chairman; Joe Sowerwine, John Satterthwaite, and Velma Leverton, Senior Play Committee: Miss Taylor, Chairman; William Calvert, Roger Ware, Fred Grayston, Myrtle Louise Earhart, Jeanne Felton, and Jack Barnhisel.

The annual Senior Play was looked forward to with a great deal of enthusiasm by all the Class, and as a result, the well-known play, "Cappy Ricks" by Peter B. Kyne, was chosen for presentation.

The number was well received by packed houses both nights, November 22 and 23 when the play was presented. It was under the competent direction of Miss Taylor and Miss Rupert, assisted by A. J. Beriault, head of the Beriault School of Expression at Indianapolis. A few weeks after the presentation of the play, the entire cast journeyed to Fort Wayne for an evening's entertainment.

In financing its annual, the class was under the necessity of finding some method to take the place of advertising which was given up by the business staff. The city Auto Show on February 6, 7, and 8 was the result. All members of the class had a part in helping to put it across by selling tickets, and a special committee of Bob Bauman, chairman; Helen Johnson, Kathryn Deerwester, Sumner Sale, Gaius Wike, James Favorite, and William Calvert, class president, aided Joe Sowerwine, business manager of the yearbook, in the details of the venture. This was declared the most successful undertaking ever staged by a High School organization.

The first social event of the year was held in the High School Gym, with Roger Ware in charge, and a good time was enjoyed by all those present.

Early in April, a second party was given at the County Club with the Vikings and Coaches Kriegbaum and Bucher as special guests. An orchestra composed of Anne Steiber, William Calvert, Marion Van Pelt, Waldo Hubartt, and Maurice Newell, furnished music for the occasion. This was declared the most successful party ever sponsored by the class.

Putting aside their good-times, the class turned to the serious job of choosing a gift to the school that would always be remembered. After much debating, they finally agreed on possibly the most appropriate and most appreciated of gifts ever presented to Huntington High School, the electric scoreboards for Huntington's new Community Gymnasium, that now hang on the North and South walls of the building with a plate bearing the words, "Class of '29", suspended from each.

Thus at the close of their four years in H. H. S., the Class has maintained a high standard of leadership and scholarship, and can truly be called "The best class to ever be graduated from Huntington High School."

Class of '30

PRESIDENT.....GERALDINE COBLE

VICE-PRESIDENT.....WILLIAM SCHEERER

SECRETARY.....ESTHER REPP

TREASURER.....MAX POTTS

ADVISOR.....MISS MINNIE HOFFMAN

WITH the idea in mind of giving the Senior Class a beautiful reception, the Junior Class started off their year in fine style.

At the first meeting held during the second week of school, the class was organized and the officers chosen as follows: Geraldine Coble, President; William Scheerer, Vice-President; Esther Repp, Secretary; and Max Potts, Treasurer. Miss Minnie Hoffman was chosen as advisor.

As is the custom established by the Junior Classes, the class sold candy and pop at all the football, basketball, baseball, and track games. They also had charge of the candy sales at the Legion games and at the Sectional Tournament.

The second undertaking to make money to finance the reception, besides selling candy, was the sponsoring of the show, "What a Night" at the Jefferson Theatre on April 17, 18, and 19. The performance was well attended and a large revenue was obtained.

The most outstanding event of the season was the annual Junior-Senior reception given by the class at the Masonic Temple on May 23. This was very beautiful in its design and was looked forward to by all the members of both classes.

Besides this, the Junior class has been rather fortunate in having a large variety of talent, which is made up chiefly of athletes, musicians, journalists, debators and orators which make the class well known outside of school, as well as in.

The success of the class is largely due to the work of the officers, advisor, and the members of the committees who assisted in planning their various activities.

Class of '31

PRESIDENT ..... MAXINE ADE

VICE-PRESIDENT ..... GWENDOLYN MAHONEY

SECRETARY ..... LUCILE WIENKE

TREASURER ..... FRED DICK, JR.

ADVISOR ..... CLUM BUCHER

WITH no outstanding activities to their credit, still the Class of '31 can be complimented on their wonderful cooperation in the undertakings they have assumed.

At their first meeting held during the first six weeks of October, Maxine Ade was elected President; Gwendolyn Mahoney, Vice-President; Lucile Wienke, Secretary; and Fred Dick Jr., Treasurer. Mr. Bucher was chosen Advisor, being the second man to be chosen class sponsor in the history of the School, Gordon Cook, former Chemistry teacher, being first.

Some time later, plans were made for a Hallowe'en party held in the High School gym on October 27. All the members came masked, and a good time was enjoyed by all those present.

At a special meeting of the Class officers, a social committee was appointed to aid in planning for the social functions of the year. It was these students who made the party the success that it was. The committee is as follows: Jane Wheeler, Chairman; James Tyler, Ruby Iry, Cloyce Nichols, Max Allen, Mary Ellen Willis, Mildred Bailey and Phyllis Sale. The Refreshment Committee was composed of Miriam Dumbauld, Chairman; John Berringer, Isabel Teusch, and Helen Weber. They had charge of the refreshments at all the parties given by the class and proved very helpful toward this end.

Along with the Junior Class, the Sophomores are also fortunate in having such a wide variety of talent manifested in its members, including: athletes, musicians, Latin contest winners and others.

FRESHMEN

Class of '32

PRESIDENT ..... CLINT MCCLURE

SECRETARY ..... JOHN SPAHR

ADVISOR ..... MISS BEATRICE BROWN

AFTER the fourth week of the opening semester of school the Faculty Committee on Class Organization arranged for the organization of the Freshman Class. At the election of officers the following members were chosen to serve: Clint McClure, President; John Spahr, Secretary-Treasurer; and Miss Beatrice Brown, Advisor.

The class this year outnumbered the graduation class of 1929 by 23, and had a total of 127 members who entered the halls of Huntington High School in the fall. Central contributed the greatest number of members, sending 48. Lincoln, Horace Mann, and Riley ranked next in order, respectively.

The class this year has not undertaken anything that is spectacular, but still with the experience of being an organized class, they will be in good stead for their forth-coming years in making a name for themselves.

The "Frosh" are well represented in various activities of the school having several talented musicians, and some promising athletes. Besides this they have several members who have been very active in the Latin Contest and have won several distinctive honors.

Thus with such a start, much can be expected of the class of '32 in becoming very prominent in the halls of their schools and the tradition of being "Frosh" can soon be cast aside and they can be called "Sophs."

Modulus

THROUGHOUT the year the staff of the 1929 Modulus has progressed rapidly and smoothly.

After the Centennial Celebration in the summer of 1928, the sugestion that they follow the line of historical value for the theme of the book was adopted by the staff members. This is completely different from previous years as it portrays the evolution of the history of the city.

The book was divided into only two main sections, "The School" and "Student Life." Colored inserts were used on these division pages, a feature that has never appeared in a Modulus before.

A four color process plate of the High School building appearing in the front of the book is also a special feature, and tint blocks were used on the entire introductory section.

In contrast to the book of last year, the contents of this year's Modulus is enclosed in an extremely unpretentious cover which adds much to the dignity and impressiveness of the volume.

With no advertising of any form in the book, other means had to be sought for its financial success. Several paper campaigns were sponsored and yielded very good results. Along with this, the business department published a mailing list containing all the students in High School and also the County Seniors. This was sold to merchants also as a means of revenue.

The most outstanding feature was the Auto Show sponsored by the staff, in connection with the dealers, at the New Community Gymnasium on February 7, 8 and 9.

School World

THE make-up and general appearance of the School World underwent a distinct change this year, and no one can deny that the paper makes a very handsome appearance.

The type form in the name of the paper was changed from plain bold type to Old English type. The main headlines were made three lines, which completely changed the appearance of the paper.

The staff was selected at the first of the school year and proved to cooperate in good form. Because of the increasing Modulus work, the members of the World staff were transferred to the yearbook staff and the beginning journalism class assumed this work. These students had served as reporters and were trained to their positions before they took the complete responsibility.

Several special editions of the paper were published throughout the year. Three papers were put out at tournament time; one large feature and two others containing the latest results of the games, sold during the sessions.

A colored April Fool number was published which could rightly be alled "The True or False."

At the convention of the National Scholastic Press Association, the School World ranked as a first class paper, which is classified as "excellnt", and tends to show that the work put forth by the staffs was not in vain.

Modulus Committee

SOON after the beginning of the school year, a committee was organized to assist in financing the Modulus. This was a new feature in the financing of the yearbook and has proved very successful.

Each member had his own definite work to do and the wonderful co-operation was a main factor in the financial success of the book.

On November 10 and 11 the committee conducted a paper campaign and with the aid of several other students, succeeded in collecting six and one-half tons of newspapers and magazines.

An Auto Show, the first that any Indiana high school has ever sponsored, was conducted by these students. The new gymnasium was used for the demonstration, and decorations of red, white and blue were used. Eighteen dealers co-operated in making the show the success that it was.

Another paper campaign, more successful than the first, was directed by this group and the residents of Huntington made it possible for the large proceeds taken in.

Robert Bauman was chairman of the committee and through his efforts, the committee functioned smoothly. The other members of the committee were James Favorite, Kathryn Deerwester, William Calvert, Helen Johnson, Sumner Sale, and Gaius Wike.

Quill and Scroll

FOR the third year, members were chosen for the Quill and Scroll, the National Honor Society for High School Journalists. The society ranks in school honors on a basis with the Honor Society.

The qualifications for membership in the society are such that only a very few achieve the standard. A member must be of the Junior or Senior Class, must rate in the upper third of the class in scholastic standing, and have done excellent work in writing, editing, or business management. He must be recommended by the faculty advisor and accepted by the National Secretary-Treasurer of the Society.

A statement of the type of work done, the positions held, the amount of material printed, and the character of each applicant, must all be submitted at the time of application.

Quill and Scroll has more than 300 chapters in every state except one, and several thousand members. It has gained recognition in the few years it has been established as one of the out-standing honorary organizations for high school pupils.

The first group taken in this year consisted of: Hilda Beaver, Frances Beson, Jeanne Felton and Geraldine Royer. Joe Sowerwine was elected when a Junior. Those who obtained membership later are: Lydia Winkleman, Benjamin Ahlschwede, and Robert Burgwald.

VICE-PRESIDENT.....JEANNE FELTON
SECRETARY.....VELMA LEVERTON
TREASURER.....WILLIAM WHITELOCK

EACH year five per cent of the Junior Class and ten per cent of the Senior Class are chosen for membership in the National Honor Society, by a committee from the faculty after all the faculty has turned in the names of those who they think deserve the honor. The four qualifications for eligibility are: scholarship, service, leadership, and character. A member must rank in the first fourth of his class scholastically. The attitude toward the school and its functions, the part the student has taken in the school activities and the pupil's general manner are all things that are considered at this time.

The Senior members are: Benjamin Ahlschwede, Jeanne Felton, Betty King, Velma Leverton, Joy Reiff, and William Whitelock, who were chosen during their Junior year. The other Senior members are: Rosamond Ade, Hilda Beaver, Frances Beeson, William Calvert, Frederic Grayston, Helen Herzog, Harold McIntire, Robert Petrie, Lillian Raver, and Lydia Winkleman.

The members from the Junior Class are: Geraldine Coble, Martha Dungan, Gwendolyn Mahoney, Helen Maranda, Rex Rudicel, and William Scheerer.

K. B. F. Award

FOR the second year, the Kiwanis Club of Huntington has offered the K. B. F. awards for scholastic work.

Only Seniors are given these awards and from the Freshman year to the Senior, the grades are averaged. Six per cent of the graduation class is elected to membership.

The membership pin is gold in the shape of a watch charm marked with significant symbols. A shield is the basic design enhanced by a lamp of knowledge at the top. In the left hand corner there are five stars representing five noble characteres: truth, charity, purity, courage, and self-control. In the right hand corner is a shield with thirteen stars and stripes representing patriotism. The Latin phrase, "Discite Semper," meaning "study always" is supported in the center by two bars beginning from either side of the shield. At the bottom of the shield is the Kiwanis Internationel emblem below which is the phrase, "Sponsors of Education." The Society stands for "Kiwanis Builds Forever."

The Seniors who were taken into the scholastic society last year are: Dorothy Craft, Lena Johnson, Helen Miles, Martha Scudder, Omer Shideler, and Margaret Scudder.

Student Council

THE students have established and are maintaining a real democracy in Huntington High School through the Student Council. This plan gives the governed a voice in the government. The student body has, and rightly, a real feeling of importance, and of fine pride in their institutions.

Through the Student Council this year the Monitor System has been kept in a creditable condition. This is the manner of maintaining orderly passing of the pupils from class to class. The council approved and adopted the plan of paying for activity tickets of all kinds in weekly installments in connection with banking.

The biggest thing the Student Council did this year, however, was along the line of traffic on the streets adjacent to the High School building. A committee from the Council went to the mayor of the city, C. W. Snider, and obtained permission to make John street a 'one way' street, cars to be parked on the north side of the street facing east. Thus when school is dismissed the cars leave by Byron Street were pedestrain traffic is less congested.

This plan was explained to all the Sponsor groups, and met with favor by the whole school. It has been productive of much good and eliminated much danger and inconvenience. A little education by the Committee of the Student Council members at first was all that was necessary to make the plan a complete success.

AVERY active extra-curricular organization this year has been the Parent-Teachers Association.

The cooperation between the parents and teachers this year has been more outstanding and beneficial than ever before.

In former years the organization was used more or less figuratively but it has responded unusually well in various enterprises.

Probably the most outstanding accomplishment of the club was the purchasing of the uniforms for the High School band. For this achievement, the Hobby Fair was sponsored January 5, to which the students from all the Junior-High schools of Huntington worked up their hobby in some form and gave it to be put on exhibit in the halls of the High School. Blue, red and yellow ribbons were awarded as prizes in respective value. A number of Penny Suppers were also given by the association to help in the project.

Sunshine Society

THE significance of Sunshine continued to be portrayed as it has always been in the work of the Sunshine Society this year.

In addition to the traditional Sunshine activities three new features have been added this year.

The first of these is the observing of Appreciation Hours having as an aim the development of a deeper appreciation of God's gifts. Two of these meetings have been held, one at Memorial Park, where Rev. Albert spoke, and the other at the M. E. Church, when Mrs. Oliver Kline brought a beautiful Thanksgiving message.

The second new idea was the organization by the Religious Committee of the Sunshine Watch. A beautiful prayer was written by Effie Chalmers, and copies of it were given to all the girls wishing to observe the watch each morning.

The third feature was a more material one; it was the selling of holly wreaths at Christmas time, by means of which one hundred dollars was raised and a great deal of Christmas Sunshine spread.

Three dramatic productions were given to the school by the Sunshine this year—"The Christ Candle" by the Religious Committee, "Three Pills in a Bottle" by the Dramatic Committee, and "The Maker of Dreams" by the Public Speaking Class, financed by the Society. The outstanding social event of the year was the Valentine Banquet given by the Big and Little Sister Committee, at which Dean Sandefur spoke.

Hi-Y Club

WITH a total of 63 members, the Hi-Y Club of H. H. S. has spent one of the most active years since its organization in 1920.

Thirty-six new members were initiated into the society this year from the three upper classes.

The officers as elected for this year are as follows: Robert Petrie, President; William Whitelock, Vice-President; Joe Sowerwine, Secretary-Treasurer; and Jack Barnhisel, Sergeant-at-Arms.

A ministrel composed of High School and Alumni members was planned for presentation but because of other activities conflicting the idea was abandoned. Under the auspices of the club a complete football and basketball schedule for 1928-29 was given to each student in the school.

The Annual Father and Son's Banquet was given by the club November 15, and the Mother and Son's Banquet on March 21. The main event of the year was the best girl banquet given at the Elk's Club, April 24. The largest number was present that has ever attended, and was considered a big success.

At the election in April next year's officers were elected by ballot. They are: DeVon Young, President; Max Potts, Vice-President; Rex Rudicel, Secretary-Treasurer; and Woody DuHadway,Sergeant-at-Arms.

Senior Play

THIS year was the first that the Seniors have presented their annual class play the first semester. This was because a class in Dramatics was conducted the first half of the school year.

After much debating and consideration of many plays, the class chose "Cappy Ricks," and this production was staged with great success both at the afternoon performance on November 21 and at the evening performances, November 22 and 23.

Roger Ware, as "Cappy Ricks," played his part exceedingly well and seemed to fit in with the character of the old man of many natures.

Geraldine Royer was a typical "Florence Ricks," pretty, petite, and dainty, and played her part with ease. The character of Matt Peasley was a big, young sea-captain who falls in love with Florence. William Whitelock played this role as if he had been a captain all his life.

Clara Jane Richards charmed the audience in the part of Cappy's stenographer, Ellen Murray. The crowd was continually kept in good humor by Cecil Pericles Bernard, the "Don't cha know" Englishman, remarkably portrayed by Edward May. "Aunt Lucy Ricks" was a sweet elderly lady and no one could have been chosen who was better suited to the part than Velma Leverton.

Just in contrast to the excitable and nervous "Cappy" was Skinner, his business manager, and Sam Heeter was just deliberate enough in his speech and actions to play this part. As a lawyer, William Calvert played the part of Singleton with ability and made a good apperance. James Robert Lee was a typical chauffeur in the role of Brookfield.

Branyan

"Jerry of Jericho Road

AFTER a lapse of two years in staging an operetta, the chorus classes, under the direction of Mrs. Branyan, presented the operetta, "Jerry of Jericho Road," in the High School auditorium, March 21 and 22.

The presentation of the play showed the results of careful coaching and constant practice, the cast and choruses exhibiting a brilliant finish.

An unusual and interesting feature the last night was the presence of the author of "Jerry of Jericho Roard," Stella Clark, and the publisher, Raymond A. Hoffman.

The story was a modern American production, centered in a tourist camp. "Jerry," owned a tract of land which proved to contain oil. She ran away to a tourist camp to escape the police after she had run into a police station where she fell in love with John Drayton. "Sandy" was in love with Allen O'Day but was too independent to admit it. Her mother wanted her to marry Allen because he was wealthy, and she took her family West to follow Allen. They all met in this tourist camp where after much excitement and pleasure, all the affairs were straightened out and everyone was "happy ever after."

The principals were as follows: Geraldine Banks, better known as "Jerry", Velma Leverton; John Drayton, Max Potts; Sandy Banks, Maxine Chalfant; Allen O'Day, Roger Ware; Cornelius Bean, Harold McIntire; Mimi, Jane Wheeler; Lettice Bank, Dorothy I. Smith; Amos.

Bank, Joe Shock; Dora, Mana Walburn; Hunter, Harold Blackburn; and Uncle Peter, James Branyan.

The choruses were as follows: Tourists Chorus and Jericho Road Chorus; Ruth Hartman, Rosabelle Bridgens, Ethel Pohler, Naomi Whitmore, Doris Williams, Ruth Allison, Alice Philly, Kathryn Harger, Alice Hurd, Mary Shearer, June Knight, Dorothy Cochran, Maxine Landis, Jessie Lehman, Adeline Bonebrake, Clara Bauman, Virginia Branyan, Fredonia Stewart, Dorothea Martin, Wanda Pinkerton, Martha Kennedy, Anne Steiber, Wilda Shipley, Wanda Shipley, Letha Rickert, Hazel C. Robertson, Jed Dick Meese, Garl Van Zent, George Streeter, Ross Shoemaker, John Christman, DeVon Young, Harvey Collins, Nevin Hochstetler, Paul Smith, Paul Kennedy, Allen Gear, James Williams, John Buzzard, Eugene McIntire, Guenivere Shores, Dorthea Barnes, Bertha Peting, Thelma Laurie, Deloris Poor, Imogene Sheets, Esther Henry, Isabelle Teusch, Hannah Cross, Nannie Bristow, Hildredth Kern, Helene Barnes, Wanda O' dier, Olive Lesh, Leetia Stewart, Mabel Richardson, Rose Blockson, Cecile Holsworth, Mary Elizabeth Holabird, Delene Lobdell, Ossa Hamilton, Clara Jane Richards, Louis Lichtsinn, Fred Cussen, Albert Petrucelle, John Wann, Carl Mickley, Donald Henry, Ernest Huffman, Jerry Jung, Frank Cussen, and Vaughn Hubley.

The Jericho Road Dance Group consisted of Arzetta Brickley, Miriam Dumbauld, Wanda Hubartt, Miriam Smith, Jane Knight, Mabel Redding, Mona Mae Christy, and Deloris Feightner. The Letter Dance Group was: Olive Lesh, Leetia Stewart, Wanda O'dier, Mable Richardson, Clara Bauman, Virginia Branyan, Adeline Bonebrake,, and Fredonia Stewart.

The Ghost Dance Group was: Freeman Guest, Max Patten, Cloyce Nichols, Billy Coolman, Duane Bonam, Eugene Steele, Robert Smith, Jacob Kitt, Maurice Piepenbrink, and Arthur Solloway. The Ghost Pantomine Group was: Cleo Folk, Nellie Wood, Helen Swain, Virginia Steerhoff, Mildred Souers, Mary Yarger, Ola Christ, Hazel Hoffman, Pauline Stults, Jessie Lehman, and Geraldine Christ.

The Ghost Chorus included Miriam Dumbauld, Jane Knight, Deloris Feightner, Mabel Redding, Geraldine Brewer, Helen Sparks, Effie Chalmers, Ruth Hartman, Letha Rickert, Anne Steiber, Ruth Herendeen, Martha Kennedy, Zelma Hoag, Elizabeth Williams, Geraldine Zahn, Mae Shideler, Esther Henry, Lucile Wienke, Deloris Poor, Hannah Cross, Isabelle Teusch, Helen Jane Meier, Cecile Holsworth, Margaret Fredericks, Berniece Hippenstel, Mary E. "The Christ Candle"

IN keeping with the Christmas spirit, the Religious Committee of the Sunshine Society sponsored a playlet, "The Christ Candle," December 21 in the auditorium.

It has been the custom for several years for the Sunshine Society to give a Christmas play before the assembled students and the play this year brought out wonderfully the universality of Christmas.

The scenes of the drama were set in Holland and the story was centered about a poor family composed of the mother and her little boy Hans and his younger sister Gretel. On Christmas Eve, they took in a ragged, hungry boy, for which they received the reward of finding that he was the Christ Child.

The success of the play was due largely to the efforts of the faculty advisors of the Religious Committee.

Those who took part in the play were: Hazel Claire Robertson, Mother Madalon; Helen Jane Meier, Hans; Lillian Raver, Gretel; Joy Reiff, Friedel; Frances Doudna, Woodcutter; Lydia Winkelman, Marta; Mary Newell, Cross Jacob; Effie Chalmers, Rich Joann; Agnes Adams, Star Child; Betty King, Saint Nicholas; and Leona Fansler, Ruth Brahs, Dorothy E. Smith, Claribel Telfer, June Knight, Lois Swihart, and Hilda Beaver, the children.

"Maker of Dreams"

FOR the program at the Sunshine initiation banquet, February 14, a one-act play, "The Maker of Dreams," was staged in the auditorium, and before the student body, February 15.

The play was a French production with only three characters, Pierrot, Pierrette, and the Maker of Dreams.

Pierrot was a dreamy sort of fellow always composing and singing songs. Everywhere he looked for his ideal woman, but was disappointed every time. Roger Ware showed his acting ability when he played this part.

Pierette was a dainty girl madly in love with Pierrot although he was indifferent to her. Geraldine Royer was the exact type and acted the part to a perfection.

Sam Heeter could have been surpassed by none in the role of the "Maker of Dreams." This character brought Pierrot to a realization of his love for Pierette and hers for him.

The playlet was under the supervision of Miss Frances Taylor.

Beginning Band

UNDER the careful and untiring supervision of Delmar Weesner, the beginning band of Huntington High School has made great progress during this year.

This group is composed of students who have had little or no training in playing an instrument before, and some of the pupils receiving instruction are from the Junior High Schools.

The High School owns about 25 instruments, the finest that can be bought. Pupils are permitted to use these free of charge if playing in the band.

The members of Band I and II and instrumentation are as follows: piccolos: Clifford Carmichael, George Cussen, Helen Jackson; Clarinets: Deane Fowerbaugh, Mary Trovinger, Ruth Paddock, Helen Brewer, John Circle, Helen Jane Cook, Garland Holloway, Hugh Hartman, Helen Harvey, Willis Hosler, Ruth Wike, Buna Myers; saxophones: Iva Cunningham, Robt. Edris, Glen Rickert, Toby Tyler, Alma Yarger; cornets: Carol Evans, Jane Foote, Don Freehafer, Laura Fulhart, Ray Lauer, Pearl MacFarlane, Tom Wasmuth, Robert Miller, Carline Fisher; horn: Warren Smith; trombone: Dorothy Overholt; baritones: Harold Casper, Kenneth Fahl, George Vandewater; bass: Stanley Myers; drums: Darwin Espich, Robert Rice, Velma Zook, Harold Landfert, Nola Yarger.

Advanced Band

THE advanced band class has steadily progressed in ability and musical organization and has shown marked improvement in the two years it has been a part of the High School program.

Due to the efforts of the Parent-Teachers Association the advanced band was presented with uniforms, adding much to the spirit and attractiveness of the group.

The band made its first appearance in uniform at the dedication game, January 17, and received a tremendous ovation. They also played at the laying of the cornerstone of the Y. M. C. A. and at all the home football and basketball games.

Orchestra

THE instrumentation of the High School orchestra was the best this year that it has ever been.

The orchestra was organized shortly after the beginning of the school year with forty-nine students trying out. The first meeting was to see the material that was available this year.

The wind instrument players were drawn largely from the advanced band group and the total number of members was limited to afford better balance.

Music was provided for the Senior Play by this department and added much to the entertainment of the occasion.

The orchestra accompanied the presentation of the Operetta given by the Chorus department, and was highly complimented on their splendid orchestration. For this occasion twenty members of the organization were used providing a more suitable tone in the accompaniment of the singers.

The members of the orchestra were as follows:

Girls' Glee Club

THE second year of the organization of the Girls' Glee Club has been of varied activities.

The first meeting of the year was held September 19 and election of officers was held. The following girls were elected: Myrtle Louise Earhart, President; Hazel Claire Robertson, Vice-President; Olive Lesh, Secretary-Treasurer; Miss Cage, Advisor; and Mrs. Branyan, Director.

During the first part of the year the organization was active in singing at different clubs and social affairs. They sang at the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs, and several women's clubs. At the Christmas Charity Guild party at the Court House, the group gave several numbers on the program and was well received by the audience.

Eight girls of the club are graduates this year, leaving seventeen to carry on the work next year with the increase of several more who will be selected at that time.

The members are: first soprano: Maxine Chalfant, Hazel Claire Robertson, Miriam Smith, Myrtle Louise Earhart, Lillian Raver, Velma Leverton, Mona Mae Christy, and Margaret Rinebolt; second soprano: Laura Kenner, Delene Lobdell, Mae Shideler, Miriam Dumbauld, and Ossa Hamilton; first alto: Elizabeth Lengel, Olive Lesh, Dorothy M. Smith, Geraldine Zahn, Leetia Stewart, and Arzetta Brickley; second alto: Agnes Adams, Jane Wheeler, Dorothy I. Smith, Alberta Sands, Wanda Hubbart, and Lois Forster.

Debate

THE H. H. S. Debate season was brought to a close with only one win chalked up.

Having lost all of last year's members but two through graduation, this year's team was practically void of experience, but all but two will be eligible to compete in next year's contests.

In accord with the rules of the Northeast Indiana Debate League, of which Huntington is a member, each team, negative and affirmative, debated two members of the League on the question, "Resolved: That the United States should adopt a hands-off policy toward Nicaragua."

The affirmative lost to Warsaw and Central; the negative gained a victory over Bluffton but was not so successful in the North Side contest.

In deciding the debates, the critic judge method seemed the most popular with all the teams.

A debating class of fourteen members organized about a month before the season, began to test the ability of those who tried out and to acquaint them with the subject and instruct in the laws of debating.

The members of the affirmative team were as follows: Tom Wasmuth, Helen Maranda, Miriam Dumbauld and Betty King, alternate.

The negative was composed of Eldon Rice, Darwin Kelly, Jeanne Felton, and Shirley Hawes, alternate.

Latin Contest

FOR the fifth consecutive year, Huntington High School again competed in the State Latin Contest.

The local contest in which all the Latin students took part was held February 8.

The winners were: Elizabeth Snyder, Helen Jackson, John Spahr, Georgiana Redrup, Helen Jane Cook, Leona Fansler, Helen Maranda, Jeanne Felton, Geraldine Coble, and Joy Reiff.

The County test was held in the Huntington High School, February 23. Those winners were: John Spahr, Georgiana Redrup, Helen Maranda, Jeanne Felton, Joy Reiff, and Geraldine Coble.

Because of the conflict of dates with the operetta, only two of these students were able to compete in the district which was held at Wabash, March 23. They were: John Spahr, and Georgiana Redrup, who placed fifth and sixth, respectively, in division A.

The winner of each division in the district partook in the State contest at Indiana University.

The Latin contestants were presented with letters in recognition of their work. Awards for the district and State contest are gold, silver, and bronze medals. Thirty-nine contestants competed in the district which is divided into approximately ten schools.

Commercial Contest

HUNTINGTON High School won fourth place in the District Commercial Contest held this year at Marion, April 20.

The beginning shorthand class took second place out of eleven teams. Out of seven teams, the advanced class took third place. The penmanship pupils took second place, advanced typing third, and beginning typing fourth. The bookkeeping team placed fifth out of thirteen teams.

A fifteen minute typewriting test was given and an hour's time for the other subjects. The morning was devoted to the taking of the tests, and all the papers were graded by the teachers in the afternoon.

In all, thirteen schools were represented. The seventeen Huntington contestants journeyed to Marion in a bus chartered for them and in Mr. Eberhart's car.

The students and their classifications were as follows: bookkeeping: Leonard Michael, Letha Rickert, Anne Steiber; advanced shorthand: Ruth Brahs, Audrey Buzzard, Lillian Raver; beginning shorthand: Mardella Musselman, Florence Tuxworth, Anita Streseman; advanced typewriting: Lydia Winkelman, Marjorie Morgan, Sylvia Fist; beginning typewriting: Frances Beeson, Olive Lesh, Anita Streseman; penmanship: Irene Burley, Ruth Luellan, and Ruth McDevitt.

SPORTS

Coach Kreighbaum

AFTER completing his third year as chief athletic coach of Huntington High School, Paul Kriegbaum has earned the name of being one of the most popular coaches the Norse have ever possessed.

This year, for the first time, H. H. S. has a coach who has been permitted to spend all his time as an instructor of athletics. Besides being chief coach in High School, Paul was given the position this year of overseeing the sports of the junior high students in the grade schools.

Kriegbaum was a former H. H. S. Athlete. He was a member of the famous Huntington quintet of 1918 who sailed the Viking Ship further than any other five, before or after their time. This team was the only five who ever carried Huntington's name to the semi-finals in an Indiana High School state basketball tournament. On this team, forever remembered in H. H. S., Paul held down the important position of center.

After leaving H. H. S., Kriegbaum gained further basketball honors at Purdue where he continued his education. He played center on the net squad representing this school and made the all-conference team.

This year Kriegbaum took complete charge of basketball and track. With only three men remaining from last year's Viking ten basketball squad, he was forced to look elsewhere for material for his team. He found this in members of last year's Scylding squad and in the host of other aspirents who tried out. After picking his squad of ten men he quickly converted them into a fast machine which gave many of the leading teams in the state a hard run for their money. They were probably the best team to represent Huntington on the hardwood for some time.

A large amount of material was at hand for track team as most of last year's thinly clads were still with us. These were swiftly converted into a dependable bunch of winners. They could be depended upon not to disgrace H. H. S. in her track meets and Kriegbaum soon brought out all that there was in them.

Coach Bucher

CLUM Bucher who has completed his first year as coach of H. H. S. athletics, was prominent in sports in other years. He graduated from H. H. S. with honors in 1924 after having participated in all the major sports sponsored by this school

He continued his education at Indiana University where he received his A. B. degree. He gained a very prominent position in college athletics earning letters in baseball, football, and basketball. The honor of receiving three letters is gained by so few that it is a distinction much sought after by college athletes. Bucher achieved his greatest honors in baseball receiving much favorable publicity for his efforts.

Besides being an athlete, Clum Bucher gained many other distinctions at the University which are accorded so few. He was president of the Senior Class, an honor of which anyone could justly be proud, and he was voted by his fellow students to be the most popular man on the campus.

His major subject at college was History. He returned to H. H. S. this year to become a teacher of History and assistant coach of athletics. He was given charge of the football and baseball squads and was able to turn out creditable records for each. With but five men remaining from last year's football eleven, he built up a fast and compact machine from a bunch of inexperienced, but strong and courageous substitutes. The first eleven were picked and lashed into shape at a two week's session in a training camp on Lake Tippecanoe under the leadership of Coach Kriegbaum and himself.

In his baseball coaching, Clum also proved himself to be a master. He learned much of his sport in college wihle he was playing on the I. U. nine and Huntington High School may justly be proud to have such an experienced and proficient athlete as one of its coaches. He had a wealth of material with which to build his baseball nine and has used it to good advantage.

His basketball coaching was not in the least lax as was shown when he turned in a successful record for the Scyldings, junior Viking basket scorers, over whom he had coplete charge.

Athletic Board

THIS year an Athletic Finance Board, which was inaugurated last year, was reorganized with J. E. Michael, Chairman; Hugh Brown, George Eberhart, and C. E. Byers as members, and Miss Langley acting as Secretary-Treasurer. The purpose of this board was to organize the finances of all H. H. S. sports in a systematic way to reduce the indebtedness and to keep expenditures so as not to exceed the receipts.

This board set the prices of activity tickets and of season and single admission tickets to all games and made and carried out plans of raising money to help pay off the debt. The use of the new Kriegbaum field and the new gymnasium is expected to bring larger crowds to the games and thus the board hopes to be able to pay all indebtedness next year.

As chairman of the board, J. E. Michael also held the position of Faculty Manager, and was given charge of all matters pertaining to the business end of Huntington High School athletics. He arranged for the advertising of all games, purchased all supplies and equipment, saw that the grounds and gym were in shape for all games, had charge of the printing of tickets and programs, and devised different ways of increasing the attendance at games.

Another important duty of the board was to meet with the coaches and give the final decision on who is to receive the sweater in each of the sports.

Athletic Association

INSTEAD of charging cash for season tickets for all the sports of H. H. S. as had previously been done, last year a new system was inaugurated. This system, because of its success last year, was continued this year.

Ten cents each week for the thirty-five weeks of school was deposited by the students who wished to attend the contests and pupils who subscribed for this privilege were given a badge which admitted them to all games, football, baseball, basketball, and track, which were played at home. The Athletic Association was composed of the 392 pupils who possessed these badges.

Officers for the organization were elected early in the school year. Frederic Grayston was elected President; Geraldine Royer, Secretary; and Georgiana Redrup, Treasurer.

Three Committees were appointed by the president. The Membership Committee. Harold McIntire, Velma Leverton, Eldon Eubanks, and Mr. Plasterer, advisor sold tickets to games, such as the homecoming and the dedication of the new Gym, which were not included on the season tickets. The Publicity Committee: Edward May, Laura Kenner, Fred Dick Jr., and Miss Alwood, advisor, discharged the duty of advertising, decorating and boosting of the games. The Finance Committee, Joy Reiff, Delene Lobdell, Wm. Calvert, and Miss Cage, advisor, made and carried out plans by which money was raised for the Association.

Football Squad

WITH the closing of the Football season in November the Vikings brought to a close a fairly successful campaign under the coaching of the new mentor, Coach Clum Bucher.

Although they did not win all their games, still they can be complimented upon the wonderful machine work they did do.

In their opening tilt with Kendallville, they lost a hard fought battle by the close score of 7 to 6; however, this was made good by the decisive victory of 13 to 0 over the Loganberries.

Again they proved their skill in aerial attack by breaking up the Yellow Jacket Hive of Decatur with the final score of 20 to 0. This was their first tally in the Northeastern Conference. The following week they were again successful in the ragged fought battle with Garrett by the wide score of 20 to 0.

However, Lady Luck did not continue in their way, for the following week the Norse fell before the Kokomo Kats in the listlessly played game by the score of 0 to 27. Again the next week they fell before the Circus City squad by a wide margin.

Breaking the jinx that had prevailed between the Norse and the Warsaw Tigers in indecisive battles for the last four years, the Tigers nosed out a last minute victory over the Sea Rovers by a close score of 12 to 13; however, they received their revenge the following week for they defeated th Blufftonians by the wide score of 6 to 0 by virtue of a touchdown practically donated to them by Coach Means of Bluffton.

In their battle with the Columbia City Eagles, the Vikings fell before them with the score of 6 to 19. They also suffered defeat at the hands of the Wabash Hillclimbers by a 12 to 2 margin, bringing to a close their season on the Gridiron.

This season was the last for ten veterans of the squad. Ade and Heaston have played four seasons, as allowed by the Indiana High School Athletic Association ruling, and others lost by graduation are Petrie, Fryer, Bechstein, Favorite, Ufheil, Petrucelle, Barnhisel, and LaVine.

Coach Bucher will have ten men left from this year's squad next year. These men will serve as a nucleus around which next season's eleven will be built. Bucher should be able to construct a very formidable machine next year with the material he will have on hand.

The ten who will have another chance to wear the Red and Black are Young, Wann, Casper, Wolverton, Jung, Hosler, Shoemaker, McClure, Blackburn, and Chevalier. While most of these were new on the varsity eleven during the last season, they showed up well and gave promise of developing into a strong aggregation with another year of experience.

With the interest shown in spring football training by a number of the underclassmen, new material is also assured for the opening of the season in the fall.

Support by the student body at the games was better this year than during any other season. With the opening of Kriegbaum Field, interest will undoubtedly mount higher.

The summary of the season is as follows:

Kendallville	7	H. H. S.	6
Logansport	0	H. H. S.	13
Decatur	0	H. H. S.	20
Garrett	0	H. H. S.	20

Totals	90		101

Russell Ade

Because of injuries, Ade, who was elected captain of this year's eleven was unable to hit the stride he did in last year's games. He did, however, do his best in the games in which he participated and deserves the admiration of every student of H. H. S.

Sumner Sale

Much credit must be given to "Scotty", student manager of the Vikings this year, for the success of the team in the season's contests. He was always "Johnny on the spot" when anything was needed by one of the players.

Joe Heaston

Heaston, who played the important position of center on the Viking eleven this season, displayed some wonderful ability and was one of the principals on the squad. He received the only sweater handed out to a football player this year.

Robert Petrie

The headwork and outstanding playing of the Viking quarterback, Petrie, were two of the reasons the Norse got as far as they did in football this season. He made many gains for his team and helptd much to keep it in the running. This is his last year in H. H. S.

DeVon Young

One of the outstanding linesmen on the Sea Rover's squad during the 1928 season was the star left tackle, "Deed" Young. He made many outstanding plays and was one of the most dependable men on the eleven.

Merle Fryer

The sprinting ability of the Viking half and fullback, Fryer, helped greatly in making the football season of Huntington high school what it was. He often carried the ball, grabbing large gains and making touchdowns

Nelson Bechstein

Bechstein held down the berth of right end on the Viking eleven this season. Though he was not spectacular as a player, he could always be depended upon. He is another star who will not shine on the Norse horizon next season.

James Favorite

Favorite played to good advantage in his position at guard all this season. He started the season good but finished it better. His ability increased greatly during the season until he became one of the mainstays on the team.

John Wann

John Wann played in the first game he ever saw. He started on the Viking eleven with no experience whatever and developed during the season into a very good player. He is expected to be one of the mainstays on next year's team and should be able to hold down a berth to good advantage.

Eugene Casper

Eugene developed his football ability rapidly during the season. As the final whistle blew he was one of the best on the squad. His playing at halfback aided the Huntington team greatly this year and he is expected to be able to hold down a regular position on next year's squad to good advantage.

Jack Wolverton

Wolverton played tackle. His work in this season's games was admirable. Next year he will hold down a regular position on the Huntington team and the experience gained this year, will be of benefit to him then.

Albert Petrucelle

Another bright and shining light on the Norse horizon was Petrucelle who demonstrated his ability at the position of halfback. During the interval in which Petrie was unable to serve as quarterback, because of injuries, Petrucelle played this position to good advantage.

Jack Barnhisel

Barnhisel played end this season. He was a steady and consistent fighter and aided greatly in making the eleven what it was. He was always dependable and delivered the goods when called upon.

Harry La Vine

During the earlier part of the season one of the outstanding Vikings was LaVine. He displayed much ability in his position at tackle, but was forced to stay out of the last games of the season because of injuries received in an earlier game.

Fred Hosler

A Norse end who filled his position to good advantage was Hosler. Although he was not noted for his spectacular playing he could always be depended upon. His is another position which will not be vacant as he still has another year in H. H. S. Great things are exepected of him next year.

Ralph Chevalier

One of the most outstanding players on this year's football squad was Chevalier. He, very ablely, held down the positions of half and fullback at different times during the season. He made many very substantial gains for the Vikings during their series of contests. He still has one more year of fighting for old H. H. S.

Gerald Jung

The football ability of Jung, Viking guard, stood the Red and Black in good stead both in the games played at home and in those fought out on foreign fields. The opponents of H. H. S. will not be pleased to learn that this player will be with us again next year.

Harold Blackburn

Very good ability was shown by Blackburn who played left end on the Viking squad this season. His playing increased in worth as the season progressed until he became one of the team's mainstays.

Robert Shoemaker

Shoemaker was a guard. He was always full of fight and proved himself to be one of the strongest links in the line this year. He could always be depended upon to do his best in every game. He will be with us on next year's fighting eleven.

Wilfred Ufheil

Ufheil was one of the Viking's dependable linesmen during this season. He showed good ability and was able to hold down his position as guard to good advantage. He will be lost to H. H. S. this year by graduation and his playing will be hard to duplicate in next year's machine.

Donald McClure

McClure was shifted around to three different positions during the season and showed good ability at each. He went through most of the season as halfback and fullback but he was also given a chance to show what he could do at quarterback. He is another Viking who will still be in H. H. S. next year.

Kriegbaum, Welch, Barnhisel, Shideler, Whitelock, Hosler, Sale
Young, Clapp, Petrie, Rudicel, Kethcart

Viking Squad

THE Viking basketball squad finished its season with the reputation of being the best five to represent the Lime City on the hardwood for sometime. Though they did not win all their games, they played only strong teams some of which were among the best in the state.

Thus they launched the Viking ship on rough seas of basketball on which it was to toss till the time of the finals in the regional tournament at Marion. The Rochester quintet, runners up in the last year's state tournament, played Huntington on the home floor and were beaten by a decisive score. This was the first time the Viking ship had reached the home port since its launching this year and it started a custom which was carried out throughout the season. The Norse lost only one game during the year on the local court.

Later in the season a highly touted team from Akron, Ohio, invaded the Viking stronghold and were beaten badly and driven back in the battle which ensued. This was the first game the Ohio team had lost during the season and was an unexpected setback to them.

The Norse made the dedication exercises at the new Gym complete by defeating the North Manchester Trojans in an exciting contest. They were attired in their new sweat suits and basketball uniforms in which they demonstrated the style of ball that the fans knew they were capable of playing.

In a very fitting manner the Sea Rovers' season was brought to a close when the Wabash Hill Climbers were subdued in a very decisive manner.

Though this game brought to an end the scheduled season of the Norse, it did not mean that they would not be on the hardwood again this year. The scheduled games really only led up to the main event of the season, the tournament.

The Sectional Tournament was held at Huntington again after being held at Warren for two years because of the latter's large gym. Huntington now, however, has a gym which will compare favorably with any in the state.

The Norse galloped through this tournament in a very fast and easy manner. They played Huntington township in their first game after which they drew a bye into the semi-finals. Here they played Lancaster but were given very little opposition. In the finals of the tournament in which they met Union Center, they showed up good again, winning by a very decisive score. They scored a total of 142 points to their opponents 29 in this tournament.

Huntington went to Marion to the regional tournament this year. They showed up very good in the first game of the tourney when they downed the strong Portland aggregation. In the finals, however, their ball underwent a change for the worse and they were defeated by Kokomo in a poorly played game.

Robert Petrie

"Pete", captain of the Viking net squad, received the only sweater given to a member of the quintet, because of his outstanding playing. He was practically an insurmountable obstacle when guarding his man. He will be graduated this year.

Hazen Shideler

"Squeek" Shideler was another fighting Norse scorer. He relieved Rudicel and Barnhisel at the forward positions and displayed much ability in his playing. Fast and deceptive in his dribbling and very good in his shots he always played his share of the game. This is his last year in H. H. S.

Jack Barnhisel

"Barny", Viking forward, displayed some wonderful ability in scoring field goals for his team during the last season. As the season progressed he became better and better in his shots and aided greatly in keeping his team always in the running. He will be graduated this year.

Ted Welch

Welch, who very ably held down the berth of center on the Viking ship of basketball, was one of the most outstanding players on the team. He gained a trophy for making the most points above the number made by his opponent. He will not be with the Viking five next year because of inelegibility.

Rex Rudicel

"Runt" Rudicel, flashy Norse forward, in spite of his small stature, was one of the best players on the team. He scored an average of eight points in every game in which he participated and earned the reputation of being able to guard his man no matter how large or small.

William Whitelock

Bill Whitelock relieved Welch at center and Hosler at back guard. He jumped at center and then played guard when he was sent in. Bill excelled in guarding his man and in taking the ball off the back board. He will receive his Bible this year.

Fred Hosler

"Feck" Hosler was a Viking fighter from start to finish. He always played the same type of steady, consistant ball in every game in which he participated. Though he played the position of back guard he scored many points for his team. He still has another year in which to help sail the Viking ship.

Laurence Kethcart

"Kitty", who relieved Petrie at floor guard and Welch at center, could always be depended upon to help keep his team in the running. He was a very fast man in his floor work and excellent in his shots. As he is only a junior he will be seen in H. H. S. athletics next year.

Scylding Squad

THE Scyldings, the second team representing H. H. S. on the hardwood, finished a very creditable season under the leadership of their new coach, Clum Bucher. At the beginning of their season they seemed to be a bit weak and were slow in getting started but they finished their series of games in whirlwind fashion.

They won nine games and lost seven for a total of 429 points to their opponents 377. Only three second teams who opposed the junior Norse were able to hand them a set back. These were the reserve outfits of Kendallville, Peru, and Lafayette.

In the opening tilt of the season against the strong Van Buren outfit, the Scyldings learned that they had many weaknesses both in their offences and in their guarding. The Van Buren five, however, was barely able to edge out a three point win. Though some of these defects were corrected in their next fray with the High School Alumni still the junior Norse came out on the short end of the score.

The third loss at their expense was administered by the Kendallville reserves. This team displayed some real basketball and out played the Scyldings in every play of the game. They were able to win the contest by a large score.

The Scylding losing streak delayed when they took the number of the Columbia City seconds in an easy manner. The score was almost tripled on them.

The strong Peru second team, fresh from the reserve tourney of the previous week where they had advanced far in the elimination, proved too much for the Bucher coached five and were easily able to run away from the Scyldings.

The "Y" Celts were barely able to edge out a two point win over the Scyldings in a battle which belonged to anyone till the end of the contest.

Here the losing streak was ended and the younger Vikings settled down to the business of basketball playing with real spirit. The first five to fall in their way was the Warren Quintet.

Continuing on their path to glory the Bucherites next brought home the bacon in a contest with Central, of Fort Wayne. The score was doubled in this fight.

Bluffton was easily brought into camp while Decatur, after a hard struggle, was also subdued. Continuing on their burst of good playing the Scyldings held the strong De Molay outfit to a seven point start and were capable of some excellent playing.

The next two contests with Angola and Union Center were converted into wins for the Huntington quintet by decisive scores.

The reserve five of the Viking first ten accounted for the loss to Jefferson but several members of the Scylding squad participated in either this game or the Viking games with Monticello and Lafayette. Because of his outstanding playing in these contests Young was transferred to the Viking squad for the remainder of the season.

The Scylding season was terminated by wins over the Auburn and Wabash aggregations.

Fred Cussen

"Cussie" was another man on the floor. He always guarded his man closely and also contributed several points to his team's score. His playing stood the Scyldings in good stead all during the season. He will not receive his diploma until next year so great things are expected of him in next season's contests.

Claude Todd

Tood always played a good game when given the chance. He was always willing to give the best there was in him to his team, and he increased the strength of the fighting Scyldings both at home and on foreign floors. He will be here next year to occupy a place in H. H. S. athletics.

Joe Heaston

Heaston played on the Viking net squad in several of their games near the first of the season, but finished the season as a member of the Scylding quintet. He contributed much to the success of the team from which he was playing, but the four year limit removes him from H. H. S. sports.

Willis Hosler

"Babe" Hosler, star Scylding center, always made his presence on the floor desirable to his team mates and discouraging to his opponents. An opposing five had to possess an extremely high jumping center to get the tip-off from him. He still has three more years in which to demonstrate his ability in H. H. S. athletics.

Woody Du Hadway

DuWoody was one of the fastest men on the Scylding squad. He was able to take the ball down the floor with lightning speed through seemingly insurmountable barriers. He added many counters to the Scylding score and added greatly in making their season successful. He has another year in H. H. S.

DeVon Young

"Deed' Young was one of the most outstanding players on the Scylding net squad during the greater part of the season. Near the end of the season he was transferred to the Viking five where he displayed much ability at his position as floor guard. He will still be in H. H. S. next year.

John Berringer

Berringer was one of the mainstays on the Scylding five. In most any of the games in which he participated you could have seen him bring the ball down the center of the floor with remarkable speed to add two points more to the Scylding score. He will still be with us next year.

Paul Kasper

Kasper was primarily a defensive player, holding down the position of back guard on the Scylding five, but he also aided greatly in the offensive plays of his team, often scoring many points. He was an excellent guard, often spoiling an opponent's attempt at the basket.

Spring Football

NEAR the first of April a call was made for spring football practice and approximately thirty-five men responded. Twenty-three suits were issued to the players and practice sessions were held under the guidance of Marvin Coble, a former H. H. S. football, basketball, and baseball star.

The purpose of having this practice is to develop players for next year's eleven. This gives underclassmen who know very little about the game a chance to make next year's team. They are taught the fundamentals of the sport and are given a chance to show what there is in them. This is also a good way for the players who were a part of the machine the year before, and who did not graduate, a chance to keep in shape. They can practice with the underclassmen and help to teach them the game and at the same time learn many new pointers themselves. "Practice makes perfect" in football as well as in other things.

If the spring football has its intended effect, Coaches Kriegbaum and Bucher will not have any trouble in selecting an efficient machine to represent Huntington on the pigskin fields next year. A wealth of material was developed, which with the addition of those who were at the same time keeping fit on the baseball and track fields, should be ample from which to select a winning eleven.

Baseball

FORTY-FIVE Candidates turned out for base ball when the first call was made in the last of March. This is the largest number who have tried out for this sport in the history of H. H. S. athletics, and Coach Bucher, for the first time, directed baseball. He had practically the same team that represented Huntington last year as only three men graduated.

The two Hosler brothers and Newell comprised the pitching squad while Heaston, Young and Kethcart were on the receiving end.

As the main weakness of last season's nine was their hitting, much emphasis was placed on wielding the bat by Coach Bucher. Many hard hitters were available for the team and these were given opportunity to demonstrate their ability. Some of the veterans were shifted to allow more dependable batsmen to take their positions.

Because of bad weather several games at the first of the season were postponed. The opening game with Rock Creek, leading county baseball contender, showed the Norse fans what the team was capable of. The county team was downed easily by a decisive score of 30 to 0. Many three base hits were made in this contest and the hitting as a whole showed an improvement over that of last year's nine. This game served as a preliminary to the regular Norse schedule with teams belonging to the Northeastern Conference.

Track

COACH KRIEGBAUM, who took charge of the track team this season had ample material from which to choose his candidates in the various meets in which Huntington High School was entered. Practically all of last year's team were with us this year as only three men were taken by graduation. Besides these men, were a wealth of new tracksters who tried out for the team, the first call bringing 23 men out for this sport. This shows that it is gaining more prominence in H. H. S. than it has commanded in previous years.

The first meet of the year was lost to the strong Peru aggregation. Huntington, however, was not beaten as badly as they were last year. Only Huntington Township and Huntington entered teams in the county meet and H. H. S. easily won this. The Viking thinly clads won first, second, and third places in six of the eleven events sponsored. This was the third consecutive county meet won by the Norse thinly clads so the silver loving cup, which was offered for the accomplishment of this difficulty, will forever be the property of H. H. S.

Three new records were added in this meet. The previous county record of 59 seconds for the 440 yard dash, made by Piepenbrink, Huntington, in 1927, was lowered by Fryer to 57.1 seconds. White lowered Fryer's 1927 record for the 220 yard dash from 26 seconds to 25.5 seconds. Kethcart raised Hammel's (Huntington Township) 1927 record of 9 feet two inches, to nine feet six inches in the pole vault.

Burgwald, Wasmuth, Wike, Dick, Du Hadway, Bridge

Tennis

COACHED by Bob Burgwald, a post graduate and former star on the H. H. S. team, the Viking racketeers were organized late in March. Although only two men remained from last year, Huntington possessed much material from which to choose an excellent team. Practices were held at Memorial park and soon a dependable bunch of tennis players were developed who bid fair to win high honors on the courts.

Last year was the first time Huntington had representatives on the tennis courts but the team who represented us did wonders for old H. H. S. They won the championship in the Northeastern Conference and also came out victorious in every game that they played.

The members of last year's courtsmen were Du Hadway, Bridge, Burgwald, Kindler, Torburg, and Ufheil. Du Hadway and Bridge were the only ones who remained after graduation had run its course, but Dick, Sale, Wasmuth, and Wike were soon worked in to fill the vacant places.

The season's games were started late because of unlooked for difficulties in securing matches to be played. Marion, who had scheduled a game with Huntington, canceled the contest because of insufficient funds to support its team and Peru did likewise. A game with Bluffton was canceled because of bad weather, so Huntington's start was delayed until April 27 when the Norse defeated Bluffton in the stronghold of the opposing team.

National Athletic Honor Society

THE National Athletic Scholarship society was organized with the purpose of maintaining high scholastic standings among high school athletes throughout the United States.

To become a member of this society an athlete must receive a letter in a major sport; football, baseball, basketball, or track; or two letters in minor sport. Besides this, he must be above the everage in scholarship. As C is the average grade in H. H. S., members must have grades averaging above this mark.

It is hoped that this society will be further incentive for athletes both in making better grades and in maintaining a higher standard of sportsmanship in games played.

This is the first year that this organization has held sway in Huntington High School and it is hoped that a large number of athletes will in future years obtain average grades higher than C so that they may become members. The initial membership here consisted of six men who won their letters in football. These six men received membership at the same time they received their letters. Later in the school year when letters were given to participants in other sports the membership of the society increased. Basketball, baseball, and track each contributed some of its followers to it.

G. A. A.

THE Girls' Athletic Association was started in H. H. S. two years ago with a membership of 50 girls. The local organization is a part of the state association which started for the promotion of girls' sports.

The officers of the local branch for this year are as follows: Helen Johnson, President; Martha Dungan, Vice-President; Emily Young, Secretary-Treasurer; and Mona Mae Christy, Master of Sports. These girls presided at the meetings which were held every month throughout the year.

Membership in this organization is determined by points which are earned by the girls participating in the various sports such as baseball, volleyball, basketball, tennis and swimming.

The membership of this club increased during the season as the various sports came and went. Each sport giving it new members to the Association until there was a large number of girls possessing sufficient points to attend their meetings.

Very close attention was paid in each game to its cleanliness, as clean athletics is the goal and purpose of the club. It is considered that if clean sports are sponsored in schools and into each student is instilled a desire to be clean, this will last throughout life.

Stallsmith, O'dier, Meier, Doudna, Williams, Wienke
Fansler, Ewing, Lyons, Richardson, Deerwester

Swimming

THE girl's swimming classes were started early in October and were held at the La Fontaine Hotel. Thirty-two girls were enrolled when the class first started. They were excused from school at 3:40 every Wednesday afternoon so that they might take the lessons in life saving given by Jolly Barr, instructor at the pool. These lessons were continued throughout the year.

To those girls who reached the proficiency in life saving, which is counted as points towards membership in the G. A. A., points could also be earned in the swimming classes by passing certain other tests which were given.

This is the third year that swimming has been a part of the gym work of the girls in H. H. S. It is considered to be a very important thing in the high school sports because of its usefulness in case an emergency should arise. If the girls should be called upon to save a drowning person's life they could be prepared to do it if they had passed the Red Cross tests in life saving.

Besides being useful to others, the exercise gained by this sport was excellent for the girls themselves as more good exercise is derived from swimming than from most of the other sports sponsored by High School.

Hoffman, Newell, Teusch, Mehrling, Lahr
Overholt, Sprowl, Walters

Girls' Basketball

THE Juniors won the girls' interclass basketball tournament by defeating teams representing each of the other classes for a total of three games won and none lost.

Their first victory was won at the expense of the Seniors who, though they fought hard, were no match for the third-year girls. The score of this contest was 16 to 6.

Converting a battle with the Freshmen into a decisive win for themselves, the final score of the second game was 40 to 12.

In the final game of the tournament the Juniors clinched the championship by defeating the scrappy Sophomores by a ten point margin, the score being 20 to 30.

The Seniors, Sophomores, and Freshmen finished second, third and fourth respectively.

Tryouts were held for the girls' basketball teams near the last of October at which time 59 girls signified their intentions of participating in this sport The teams were prepared for the tournament by practices which were held after school in the high school gym each week from the time of the earliest tryouts until the tournament was held. Many practice games were played between the teams representing the different classes so that the girls became very proficient in the art of basketball before the tournament.

FEATURES

SEPTEMBER

The covered wagon sets forth on its 1928-1929 journey — 747 pupils go bouncing along, for work? — School began as usual. Three new instructors were added to the faculty assuming their separate roles and in their dignified and masterful ways frightening the freshmen into submission, but who are now better known as Messrs. Bucher Eberhart and Plasterer. The Viking gridmen opened their 1928 season by losing to Kendallville by a score of 6 to 7. A Pow-wow song fest and pep session was held at the Jefferson Theatre on September 14th preceding the Norse-Kendallville encounter. Clum Bucher was elected a member of the advisory board of the local Hi-Y. William "Bill" Calnert was elected president of the Senior class. The world staff was chosen by McCabe Day was as follows: Francis Beeson, editor; Joe Lowerwine, business manager; Geraldine Royer, feature editor; Jeanne Felton, news editor; Woody Du Hadway, sports editor; John Satterthwaite, advertising manager; Kenneth James, circulation manager; Robert Burgwald, and Russell Ritchey, advertising solicitors. Thomas Wasmuth was appointed by Mr. Byers as flag custodian. The Junior class elected Geraldine Coble for class president. The freshman initiation rites was held in the auditorium at the first meeting of the Sunshine society. A playlet and pot-luck supper was held.

OCTOBER

Extra !! New record is established !! 770 pupils were enrolled setting a new mark which made the enrollment the largest in the history of Huntington high school The student body elected Clara Jane Richards and Max Rudicel yell leaders.  When not leading yells they both are considered normal mentally. Officers chosen for the athletic association were; Frederic Grayston, president; Geraldine Royer, secretary; Georgiana Redrup, treasurer. The Decatur "Yellow Jackets" and Garrett fell before the Norse, but the Kokomo "Wildcats" took an unexpected victory in a poorly played tussle. Maxine Ade and Clint McClure were elected presidents of the sophomore and freshmen classes. The Modulus staff was chosen by McCabe Day. It was as follows: Benjamin Ahlschwede, editor-in-chief; Jeame Felton, faculty and class editor; Francis Beeson, activity editor; Geraldine Royer, feature editor; Lydia Winkelman, copy editor. The members of the student council elected Robert Petrie as president, Martha Dungan, vice president, Emily Young, secretary. Marion Kiracofe was awarded a diamond medal given by the W.C.T.U. for first place in the oratorical contest. Frederic Grayston, Edward May, and Benjamin Ahlschwede attended the second annual Indiana young men's conference, held at Anderson, October 5th, 6th and 7th, as delegates of the Hi-Y club. The sophomore class gave a Hallowe'en party in the high school gym. Russel Ritchey was appointed art editor of the Modulus.

"By the Holy Pink Toed Prophet"!! Roger Ware, Geraldine Roger and William Whitelock as leading characters in the senior presentation of "Cappy Ricks" the 22nd and 23rd admirably portrayed their roles. The remainder of the cast added much to the success of the play. The "Warsaw Tigers" took a one point decision from the Norse by a 13 to 12 score. Five and one-half tons of old paper amounting to $85.86 were collected from the local residents for the financing of the Modulus. Joe Heaston was awarded the honorary sweater and 18 other members of the grid team recieved letters. Open house was held in the afternoon during 4th, 5th and 6th periods in order that the public might view the pupils in their school routine. The Norse closed their football season by defeating Wabash 12 to 2 and dropping a game to Columbia City by a score of 19 to 6. The affirmative and negative debating teams were picked to represent Huntington high school in the Northeast Indiana Debate league. The opening of the 1928-1929 basketball season found the Sea Rovers tackling the champion Muncie "Bearcats"  After a hard battle they were beaten by a score of 29 to 23. Whoopie!!! Pig-tails, hair ribbons en' everything was very much in evidence at the Kid party given by the Sunshine society in the gym. The senior class play profits were $450 with net proceeds of $750. Florence Tuxworth was elected president of the commercial club.

Perfect grades attained by fifteen pupils. The second six weeks sixty two students made the honor roll. Twelve girls and three boys were awarded all A's. Six members of the Norse grid team were awarded memberships in the National Athletic Scholarship society for secondary schools. The Vikings turned in victories Rochester, Kendallville, Columbia City, Warren and Akron. Two defeats were handed the Vikings by Peru and Central of Fort Wayne. Edward May and Marion VanPelt were elected yell leaders when the others chosen resigned. The Sunshine society added $100 to their treasury from the sale of holly wreaths at Christmas time. The senior rings and pins arrived and were real attractive, but even before Christmas many underclassmen were seen wearing them. Following the precedent set in former years the Sunshine society presented the play "The Christ Candle" in the auditorium on December 21st. The S.P.Q.R. held a party in the auditorium on December 21st. Five boys attended the Older Boy's conference held in Muncie from November 30th to December 2nd as delegates from some of the clubs of Huntington Harvey Collins and Thomas Wasmuth represented the Rotary club, Jack Nie and Darwin Kelley represented the Kiwanis club and Louis Lichtsinn the exchange club. School dismissed on the 21st for the students to recuperate. Nobody killed in the rush.

JANUARY

3000 fans see Vikings defeat North Manchester in dedication game by 39 to 36 count.  New uniforms and electric score boards were presented by the senior class of 1929. Parent-teachers Association presented the band with new uniforms. A. L. Trester gave principal address, and four former yell leaders assisted the regulars in cheer leading. Sixty five freshmen enrolled at mid-term bringing the total enrollment to 812. The Vikings defeated Decatur, Clear Creek, North Manchester, and North Side of Fort Wayne by comfortable margins. In a loosely played game showing lack of spirit Bluffton took the count from the Vikings. One more defeat coming from South Side of Fort Wayne marred their record this month. A Hobby show was held at the High school sponsored by the Parent Teachers Association on January 5th. Approximately 290 of the 500 hobbies exibited received ribbons. The cast for the operetta "Jerry of Jericho Road" was chosen to be presented March 21st and 22nd. Velma Severton was chosen leading lady and Max Potts was given the male lead. Two places were refilled in the World staff by McCabe Day. Appointments were, Geraldine Coble, editor-in-chief; and Shirley Hawes, news editor. An old fashioned party was given by Miss Rupert's first period english class. Many new years resolutions broken by pupils.

Auto Show a success. Sponsored bu the business department of the Modulus the first auto show ever held by any high school proved a success when $545 was cleared. It was held in the new community gymnasium February 7th, 8th and 9th, and the proceeds were used to finance the Modulus. Four new members were accepted by the National Quill and Scroll society namely, Geraldine Royer, Hilda Beaver, Jeanne Felton and Francis Beeson. Four straight defeats were administered the Vikings this month. A long cold journey to Angola proved a handicap and the following night Wiley of Terre Haute gave the Vikings their first and only defeat on their home floor. An invasion to the south proved disastrous and Monticello and Jefferson of Layfette were both victors over the Vikings. In the last two encounters with Auburn and Wabash before tournament the Vikings were victors. Robert Bauman was named assistant business manager of the Modulus by McCabe Day, faculty advisor.

A total of 200 big and little sisters attended the Sunshine Valentine banquet. The playlet "The Maker of Dreams" was given after the banquet. The cast consisted of, Sam Heeter, maker of dreams, Roger Ware, Pierrot and Geraldine Royer as pierette. Eldon Rice and Ruby Iry won first and second prizes respectively in the national essay contest sponsored by the Women's clubs.

MARCH

Huntington victor as record crowd packs new community gymnasium. 14,000 loyal fans watch

Huntington high school defeat county competition by large margins. Huntington Township, Lancaster and Union Center vanquished which gave Huntington right to enter regional. Portland, Huntington's first opponent gave them a fairly stiff battle but were beaten 27 to 13. With the breaks of the game against them Kokomo ruined Huntingtons chances of entering further state competition by defeating them 27 to 19. Geraldine Coble and Martha Dungan were elected delegates to the Sunshine convention at Crawfordsville. The annual "mother and son" banquet sponsored by the Hi-Y was held at the Y.M.C.A. Sixteen members of the Viking and Scylding squads received letters for their services on the hardwood court. Robert Petrie was awarded, "the most valuable man"; sweater in basketball. A silver statuette was given Ted Welch for the highest record in basketball competition. The chorus classes presented the operetta, "Jerry of Jericho Road" on the 21st and 22nd. This is the first time that a modern plot was used and was well received by the public. Velma Leverton as Geraldine Banks and Max Potts as John Drayton ably portrayed the leading roles. The remainder of the large cast also contributed much to the success of this years high school chorus presentation.

APRIL

Honorary pupils chosen by faculty. Twelve seniors and six juniors were elected for memberships in the National Honor society. Those selected from the senior class were: Rosamond Ade, Hilda Beaver, Francis Beson, William Calvert, Frederic Grayston, Helen Herzog Harold McIntire, Robert Petrie, Lillian Raver, Letha Rickert, Roger Ware and Lydia Winkelman. The Junior class was represented by Geraldine Coble, Martha Dungan, Gwendolyn Mahoney, Helen Maranda, Rex Rudicel and William Scheerer. The Hi-Y sponsored "The Best girl Banquet" at the Elks home on the 24th. Burr Glenn was the principal speaker. The second paper campaign was a great success clearing $91.62 exceeding the former one by $5.76

Nine members of the sunshine society attended the state convention at Crawfordsville the 5th and 6th. The first prize for the best scrapbook was awarded the local chapter. The National Scholastic Press Association Convention was held at Minneapolis Minn. Mr. Day, Benjamin Ahlschwede and Joe Sowerwine attended from the high school as delegates. Max Potts was elected by student body to represent the high school at the National Red Cross Convention at Washington D.C. The Sunshine show "Four Walls" was given at the Huntington Theatre. The baseball and tennis teams started strong and a successful season is expected. The track team retained the county title.

MAY

The journey of the covered wagon is nearly completed. The annual Junior-Senior Reception was held at the Masonic Temple. A minature group of apple trees and bouquet of apple blossoms formed the japanese setting for the dinner. The local chapter of De Molays sponsored a dance following the dinner and the orchestra featured by them also played during the dinner. The Reverend John. F. Edwards gave the baccalaureate address and the chorus classes furnished the music. Three new members were elected to the National Quill and Scroll society bringing the total number to eight. Those chosen were, Lydia Winkelman, Benjamin Ahlschwede and Robert Burgwald. The society held a breakfast at Hanging Rock. The honor society also held a breakfast in this month and were entertained at a dinner by the Rotary Club at the Hotel La Fontaine The Kiwanis Club entertained the K.B.F society at a dinner given in their honor. A colonial tea was held by the Sunshine society in honor of their mothers on the high school lawn. The Reverend Herbert L. Willet of the University of Chicago gave the main address at the Commencement exercises on May 24th. 120 seniors receive sheepskins so the fearful trip is done. The covered wagon over came all handicaps and emerged from the tedious journey in good condition

The Faculty

Of all Latin teachers, Miss Brown is the best,
She can always translate quid verum est.

The number teacher is Miss Ridgway;
She knows all about her x and a.

Mr. Bucher makes boys for football.
Some even practice in the hall.

Miss Cage can teach English and French she can talk.
Wonder which she would speak if her Buick should balk?

Now Miss Thrailkill talks about corporations and trusts,
And always refers us to Stanton and Lutz.

Mrs. Templeton tells how to draw circles and squares,
And when we are naughts she gives us some glares.

Mr. Michaels knows his drawing and everything such,
The boys like to take it; but the girls—not much.

The Misses E. Kline and A. Kline and Miss Geraldine Brown,
Teach us to cook, and sew, and make a nice gown.

Miss Weiford has the grandest room of them all,
And in it are books stacked along the back wall.

Miss Moore makes us study and write biographies,
And when we are through we'll be like geographies.

Miss Rupert is an English teacher too
And is always trying to find some good clue.

Mrs. Branyan teaches music, and Miss Gray teaches art;
And if they start talking, you can't get them apart.

Miss Altman has classes in English too;
Say, we should know our English by the time we are through.

Mr. Byers has English; but it isn't the same,
And we've heard that sometimes his class is not so tame.

Miss Hoffman teaches German, as she stands at her post,
But I guess she likes Algebra, she teaches it most.

Miss McMullan is surely a good French professor;
Yes, of a great deal of French, she is the possessor.

Miss Tyner teaches history from A unto Z,
And she knows all the countries from sea unto sea.

Miss Taylor operates on dogs and on cats,
And plays with the cutest little white pet rats.

Mr. Plasterer, the chemistry teacher sure is swell
But sometimes his mixtures make the awfullest smell.

We couldn't get along without Mr Day,
Why where'd be the World or Modulus, say!

Miss Alwood writes long, but she teaches shorthand.
If we don't have our lesson, we think we'll be canned.

Now Miss Easter plays "Kat on the Keys,"
And can type as fast as a cool autumn breeze.

Mr. Eberhart takes care of the money bag, Gee!
But he locks his room with a great, big gold key.

Mr. Brown teaches woodwork in the basement, you see?
He is sure a fine teacher, if you should ask me.

Mr. Mahoney knows how to make hammers and things,
And each Sunday morning the chimes he does ring.

Paul B. Kriegbaum, you bet, that is him,
Athletic instructor and teacher of gym.

Miss Phillips, it seems, teaches girls basketball,
And when it comes to dumbells, she sure knows it all.

Mr. Weesner is the man who waves the baton.
He sure is some looker with that new uniform on.

Now to name all our teachers I've tried my best
And I'm sure you all know them, and can think up the rest.
